

Shop agreement rescinded

By Bill Milligan
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Belleville Area College has agreed to pay District 9 $87,500 not to use its Granite City Campus for auto repair classes.

When BAC purchased North High School from District 9 in 1985, it agreed to provide an auto maintenance facility for Granite City students for a period of five years, beginning with the 1986-87 school year.

Cost of the facility was not to exceed $250,000.

Both districts began reviewing the agreement this year and found it to be "basically unworkable," according to an April 4 letter from BAC attorney Tom Alvey to District 9.

Locating the auto shop at the GCC campus would have taken space away from BAC's nationally acclaimed avionics department, it was related. The idea of sharing the shop facility prompted security concerns at both institutions.

Had District 9 wanted to use the shop at GCC, the cost of busing students to the campus could have been more than $5,800 annually. In addition, students would have been forced to schedule study hall and home room periods before and after auto classes due to transportation time.

Under terms of the agreement, BAC will pay District 9 $1,000 before Tuesday, and an additional $86,500 on or before July 31.

In return, BAC will be furnished office space in the Granite City High School Counseling Center, five years free of charge, for the purpose of counseling students on the benefits of higher education.

Last year, an Illinois State Board of Education inspection team criticized District 9 for not having enough guidance counselors at the high school.

Also, BAC will be allowed to use the Granite City auto shop located at the high school for five years free of charge.

Terms of the agreement specify use of the auto shop at times when it is not being used by District 9 students. Both districts agree to share the cost of consumables and equipment repair.

Currently, BAC has no auto shop curriculum and has no plans to institute any, said Public Relations Director Kathy O'Dell.

"That's not to say they won't start one, but if they do it will only expand the kind of training we can offer our kids now," said Vocational Education Director Jim Dumont of District 9. "BAC is trying to be a good neighbor."

The high school auto shop does not allow cars to be pulled inside out of the weather. BAC payments to the district could be used to construct a new shop at the high school, Dumont said.

May seek insurance pool

MADISON — Loss of a segment of liability insurance for the school district in 1985-87 year will force the district to look elsewhere for coverage, John Palchiff, superintendent of schools, told the school board Thursday night.

"We may have to look to the IASB (Illinois Association of School Boards) and other areas where we can pool with other districts to get insurance coverage," he added.

PALCHIFF SAID, "We are in good shape with insurance coverage inasmuch as the insurance policies have not been cancelled. However, the trend to cancel with only a 30- to 60-day notice is of concern to the district."

Presently, the school district is covered by 95 percent of its policies, he estimated.

Because of problems other districts have had in securing adequate coverage and in light of the trend, Palchiff gave each board member a copy of a letter from Harold P. Seamon, executive director of IASB, to study in relation to insurance for the district.

IN THE LETTER, Seamon said, "IASB's board of directors recently approved the establishment of a pooled property-casualty program similar to the IASB workers' compensation program."

The latter now enrolls nearly 130 districts. Our board has wisely directed the staff to proceed cautiously and has insisted that certain threshold levels be met

Superintendent's race minus one contender

ALTON — Republicans are expected to announce Wednesday a replacement for Dale W. Hammond in the race for Madison County regional school superintendent.

Hammond, 33, of Alton, said last week he planned to drop his bid for the post, but no official announcement has been made.

"If HE DOES RESIGN, we'll find a replacement," said Madison County GOP Chairman Tom Long of Godfrey.

"I'm definitely dropping the race," Hammond said Thursday.

Republicans will have 60 days after making the announcement to declare a replacement.

Hammond polled more than 4,000 votes in the March 18 primary. When he began the race, he was marketing education coordinator for the Hazelwood School District in St. Louis County. Hazelwood is one of the largest school districts in the Midwest.

"RIGHT BEFORE the primary, Hammond became coordinator of business operations in the district's central office."

The salary of Madison County's regional school superintendent is set by the County Board every four years, Hammond said. Currently, the board adds $5,000 to the superintendent's state-mandated salary.

"There is no guarantee they will continue to do that if a Republican is elected," Hammond said. "As long as I'm doing a good job, I'm going to get raises and promotions at Hazelwood."

"IT'S A SHAME you can't hold an office in education," he said. "If this job (regional superintendent) was a lot more attractive, it would be a lot more attractive."

"I can't have a career based on how many people put my signs in their yard and how many tickets I can sell to fundraisers; at least,

Working hard to get a job

By Bill Bagby

GRANITE CITY — After graduation, the typical student winds up in front of a bald-headed man in a dark personnel office.

The graduate is skilled, but needs to know something else — how to conduct himself in an interview. Learning job-finding skills is the focus of youth training at Coordinated Youth Services.

"New Beginnings" is the name of the eight-week program being offered by CYS. The program is for low-income youth, ages 16-22, said June Ridens, a program instructor.

"The purpose is to encourage completion of high school or GED (General Educational Development certificate)," she said, "and to secure a job."

Sunday focus

FOURTEEN YOUNG PEOPLE from the Quad-City Area are involved in the three-week-old program. Though it is just starting, Ridens has seen positive results from students.

"Their general conduct is much more mature," she said. "Their attitudes have changed and they work in a spirit of cooperation."

"I used to be like I never wanted to get a job," said Michael Midkiff, 18, of Madison. "But it's showed me I want to get a job to make a living."

He's learned a lot about the job-finding process, he said, especially how to fill out applications.

That could lead him to his career goal of being a commercial artist.

"BEFORE, I REALLY didn't think about getting a job," said Paula Plebanek, 19, of Granite City.

She said her favorite day is Monday — "dress-up day," when students wear business clothes to help develop job skills.

"I kind of get into dressing up one day a week," said Plebanek. She is working toward a career as an airline attendant.

"Truthfully, you need a job to make a living," said Rie Re Purkay, 18, Granite City, who is planning a secretarial career.

"I'VE LEARNED A JOB would give me a good career," said David Smith, 16, of Granite City. He

Board names negotiation teams

GRANITE CITY — Appointments to negotiating teams for the 1986-87 school year were made April 15 by the District 9 Board of Education.

Negotiators will begin meeting with American Federation of Teachers Local 743 representatives later this month to establish ground rules for contract negotiations this summer.

Two teams were named by District 9. One will negotiate with certificated employees, and another with non-certificated

Senate votes for Karandjeff Lake

Sen. Sam Vadala, D-Edwardsville, announced Friday that the Illinois Senate has adopted Senate Resolution 435 to change the name of Horseshoe Lake to "Karandjeff Lake."

Horseshoe Lake State Park is located in Madison and St. Clair counties and is the home of the almost 2,000-acre lake which provides fishing, launching ramps for small boats, and other recreational activities.

Vadala said his resolution names the lake after the late Henry D. Karandjeff, a longtime Granite City banker "whose life's work was focused on creating beautiful parks in the Madison County area."

"For over 20 years, Henry Karandjeff buttonholed everyone he could see to it that Horseshoe Lake was reclaimed for the use of people in the area."

"His efforts in this direction continued even when no one else seemed interested," Vadala said. "In addition to Horseshoe Lake, there are at least three pocket parks in Granite City that are directly attributable to Henry Karandjeff's hard work."

Karandjeff served in the Granite City Park District in past years, and he was deeply involved in the Boy Scouts of America, when he was instrumental in having ownership of Camp Sunken near Potosi, Mo., conveyed to the Cahokia Mound Council, based in Granite City.

"Henry Karandjeff devoted much of his life to the beautification and establishment of state and local parks. Naming this natural lake after him is a small tribute to a great man," Vadala said.

JOB-FINDING SKILLS are taught at the "New Beginnings" class being offered by Coordinated Youth Services. Instructor June Ridens (standing) offers help on a math problem to student David Smith.

plans to work in construction. Ridens said personal attitudes are being explored and basic job-finding skills will be taught.

One area being examined is the individual's self-awareness — looking at interests, skills, attitudes and values.

The requirements of today's careers are reviewed in the program, she said. Job opportunities are also explored.

JOB-SEARCH SKILLS are important, Ridens said. They include sources for employment leads, resume writing, job interviews and personal grooming.

Basic math, English and writing skills are also taught, Ridens said. When the eight weeks are over, the students will have help finding jobs. But she encourages them to get out and find their own.

Let's remember 'good ol' days'

Granite City is 90 years old this year. And the local settlement of pioneers, originally known as Old Six Mile (six miles east of the Mississippi River), dates back nearly two centuries, even if you don't count the big Indian population of several centuries earlier.

This being the case, enough decades have passed that a look back at the early times is highly appropriate. A historical museum known as Old Six Mile has been established and on Saturday, April 26, the Old Six Mile Historical Society will help raise funds to refurbish the museum.

There are lots of ways to raise money for good causes, but the one chosen in this instance is intended to fit exactly with the theme of the occasion. The silent auction, buffet dinner and dance that have been arranged will be accompanied by an "antique fashion show."

Plans call for modeling of attire from the 1890s and the early years of this century. The featured dress will be a dress from the Niedringhaus family, founders of Granite City.

The "Walk Through Yesterday" event sounds like an enjoyable evening; it will begin at 5:30 at the new Knights of Columbus Hall on Old Alton Road. The styles of yesteryear are sure to provide a sharp contrast to those of 1986, and the proceeds that result will help assure preservation of such memorabilia for all time.

Gun precautions essential

To the Editor:

Many gunowners have young children living at home. Therefore, safety precautions must be practiced to ensure no harm will come to their children.

Gunowners spend a lot of time cleaning and caring for their guns too much to let any unfortunate accident take place.

Even on the target range, safety is practiced. When a person wants to go downrange, he or she calls out "Range clear?" is heard. A return call is made, saying "Clear," at which time the shooter puts down his gun and goes downrange.

If he has a revolver, the gun is laying down on the table, cylinder empty. If it's an automatic pistol, the gun is on the table with the magazine empty.

All other shooters follow suit. When a person returns, a call of "Ready to fire?" can be heard.

But, at home, precautions must be taken if children are about. The gun or guns and ammunition should be hidden high up out of the children's reach, or locked away out of the children's sight.

People who have children and leave their guns in the open or within easy reach, leave themselves wide open for an accidental shooting.

Some children think the guns and toys are not loaded, and play with them. Safety first should be practiced.

It is the responsibility of every gunowner, those who have children and those who don't, to keep their guns and ammunition out of reach.

Our gun right is an important freedom we are fighting desperately to keep. If we should one day lose that right, we're opening the door for Communism.

The overseas countries started that way. Once they got the gun rights from the people, and left them defenseless, the people had no choice but to submit to their governments' control. And when they took over — they took over.

Letter to editor distorts Venice school quality

This is written in response to the letter from Eddie L. Salmond published in the April 9 issue of the Journal.

I will agree with Mr. Salmond on one thing, I, too, will admit to being shocked, but for a different reason. I was shocked that the paper would lend credence to the half-truths, innuendoes and falsehoods contained in Mr. Salmond's letter, by printing it without first making some effort to check with responsible school authorities.

I am not shocked by Mr. Salmond's letter. I could have predicted it. Space requirements will probably not permit me to respond to all of the things which he says he "witnessed" during his nine years in the Venice School District, but I would like to point out the following:

1) Mr. Salmond would have readers believe that the Venice district is rife with drugs, firearms, pornographic literature, unsafe working and learning conditions, and a host of other shortcomings.

Any reader who knows Mr. Salmond as I do, knows his letter is, purely and simply, "sour grapes" from a former employee who painfully found that he could not dictate to the superintendent of schools, and that he could not run or control the School Board, as he has tried so hard to do for more than nine years.

Your Views

ROBERTS N. VICKERS has been superintendent of Venice schools since 1974. A former teacher, principal and assistant superintendent in the Venice School District, he has been superintendent with District 3 for the past 37 years. He is a graduate of the University of Illinois.

2) He mentions in his letter that he resigned from his custodial position, a position which according to his letter, qualified him to determine where teachers should be placed, which ones were best qualified to teach, and which ones were idling away time in the teachers' lounge.

What Mr. Salmond doesn't tell readers about are the circumstances that led to his "resignation," and his phone calls to the "non-resident superintendent" after the School Board had accepted his resignation. Phone calls in which he asked me to talk to board members to see if he could get his job back.

Is it possible that had he gotten his job back, his letter to the editor would not have been written?

3) I find it hard to see how Mr. Salmond could have "witnessed" some of the things he mentions in his letter since he was a night janitor who was supposed to report at 3 p.m.

His time cards will show that quite often he did not report until after 3 p.m. High school classes in Venice are dismissed at 3:05 p.m.

I also wonder why he didn't unchain the doors, and why he didn't report all of these things he said he witnessed to school administrators or the Board of Education?

The magazine item which he did manage to bring to the attention of the board in a rather clandestine manner involved one magazine which he allegedly "found" in a locker room.

Did he really find the magazine there, or was he trying to "get even" with staff members whom he felt had failed to get one of his children a scholarship?

My first impulse upon reading his letter to the editor was that I should let readers know a little bit of Mr. Salmond's history as a school district employee. Such things as how he constantly felt he should have special consideration on his job so that he could conduct his personal and political affairs while on the job. His efforts to intimidate students and staff members who disagreed with his wishes or desires, and other things which I could mention but which would serve no useful purpose.

Suffice it to say I am not aware of anyone who was directly connected with Venice School District 3 who shed any tears when Mr. Salmond resigned.

I close with two thoughts. First, it was William Shakespeare who said, "Perhaps thou dost protest too much." Could it be that he hopes that by castigating District 3 he can direct readers' attention away from his personal and political activities?

Finally, I am reminded of Christa words as he was being crucified. "Forgive them, Father, for they know not what they do."

Board controversy an education in itself

By Bill Milligan
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — I can't remember who the superintendent of schools was where I grew up. As a student, I went to a few school board meetings, but I can only remember one of the members.

I was surprised to find out my freshman was also on the Board of Education.

"I do remember my principals. They all seemed to like me. Although one told me I might end up in prison one day after I butted in line at the cafeteria."

That was Luther E. Owens. He was my first track coach. After practice, he would make sure we all had rides home on rainy days. He drove me home a time or two.

When I was in third grade he went to see my parents and told them he thought I needed glasses. He was right. I've been wearing glasses ever since.

I was never what you would call a model student, but I managed to get an education without meeting the people directly in charge of

Columnists' Club

By Bill Milligan

Looking back makes me wonder what type of impression District 9 board members and administrators are having on the students in their care.

In one sense, they are providing a kind of education that I never received. If board members begin sitting one another, students will get an opportunity to see how adults settle their differences.

I didn't get the chance to know Frank Rea very long. He retired from the Granite City Park District only three months after I came to the Press-Record/Journal.

During the time we worked together, Rea was efficient and helpful.

More important was the way he made me feel welcome here in Granite City. I had the honor of attending his (park board secretary) retirement dinner April 10.

More than 50 of Rea's relatives and friends attended the dinner to present him with a $10 gift certificate to Central Hardware.

The highlight of the evening was Randall Robertson's reading of a letter from Rea's granddaughter, Monica Rea, 21, of Tempe, Ariz.

"I remember walks through the sun on redens in Wilson Park" with my grandpa," she wrote. "I wish I could be there for his retirement dinner."

Rea was surprised and touched by the reading.

"When you get older, this type of thing means a lot to you," Rea said.

I've been in Granite City six months now. Knowing Frank Rea has been a blessing. If the city ever needs a goodwill ambassador to anywhere, Frank would be a good one.

Rarely do I have as much fun on an assignment as I did last week when I went to Dot Bailey's class at Prather School. I watched puppet shows her kids put together out of construction paper, grocery bags and paper plates.

The kids put together shows from stories they read in their reading books, and then presented the stories to their classmates.

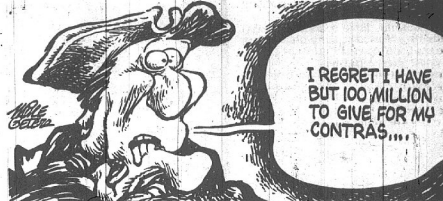

What resulted was pure joy to watch.

Every column needs a few good jokes.

Who did the Russian immigrant think Abe Lincoln was? A car dealer.

I'm Irish, so I guess it's all right to tell this one. What is an Irish 7-course meal? A boiled potato and a six-pack.

What did the man think Johnny Cash was? Money for a pay toilet.

Cat shouldn't be dead

To the editor:

This letter is a response to the article about Buttons — the cat that died because a doctor would not administer medical care unless he got cash up front.

Throughout the years I have had many animals and, as any pet owner knows, I have shared my share of medical emergencies.

Unfortunately, our pets don't always wait until we have cash on hand to become ill or injured. In the past, I have charged and paid off accounts with three different veterinarians within a 20-mile radius of Granite City, and in fact

I owe one animal hospital a $27 balance right now.

While pay as you go is normal policy with most veterinarians, I do not for one minute believe that in a life and death situation the fine dedicated doctors I have dealt with would have let the Fleetwood cat die.

My personal opinion is that exercising a little compassion in a case like Buttons wouldn't hurt and might ultimately be good for business.

On improving our local editorial product

In the recent supplement to the North Dakota Newspaper Association, a list of tips was given on producing an award-winning newspaper.

This is how the Press-Record/Journal did when comparing itself to the ideas suggested:

1) Muster your people toward winning the General Excellence award.

For newspapers, the general excellence award is probably the highest most coveted. It is an appraisal of the overall performance of the newspaper, covering such factors as general and departmental news coverage, editorial page, literary excellence, promotion of community interests, mechanical excellence and advertising enterprise.

We learned about two weeks ago that the PRJ won an award in the General Excellence category from the Southern Illinois Editorial Association. This newspaper didn't have to get staff members mustered to win that award. The PRJ staff is comprised of self-motivated professionals dedicated to providing the best in newspapering to our readers.

2) If you do not have an editorial page that is 100 percent local and controversial, launch one.

Thanks to letters to the editor, the Thursday editorial page is the almost 100 percent local, with the exception of editorial cartoons. We're experimenting now with local cartoons, as you may have noticed in the last issue. Concerning editorials, we deal with issues from a local perspective. The paper can be said of the Sunday paper.

Media Mandarin

By Jack C. Ventimiglia
Executive Editor

The Wednesday paper has stayed with its traditional content of letters and commentary from Paul Harvey. We've found readers value his writing and, contests or no, we appreciate your readership more than awards.

3) Put in writing goals you feel the community should achieve. We've done that. We thought it was important to do something about the crossing situation at the high school and suggested a median fence. Our idea wasn't adopted, but the alternative of having a crossing guard aid students has solved the problem.

We joined the voices suggesting Park Care Crisis Shelter for women get community support, and it has.

We feel these, and other examples, show we're doing the job in this category.

4) Hold staff meetings once each week to discuss coming issues, staff development and critiquing. We do — twice per week.

5) Be a newspaper of record: births, deaths, marriages, police blotter, honor rolls, etc. Educate the public about meetings of public bodies.

Nothing new for us there. We concentrate on getting such news to you.

6) If you have 100 organizations in your community, 70 of the 100 should be giving you news about what they're doing.

We feel we're doing a good job in that area, but are probably under 30 percent. Where are the rest? In case the word hasn't gotten out, this newspaper is all about you. We want your organization and church news. Check with your group's president or recording secretary and find out who's sending the newspaper a page of news about what is going on.

7) Every week carry a catch-all column about the little things going on in the community.

We have several such columns: Lucille Martin in Pontoon Beach, Maxine Duniphan in Mitchell, Donna Kostick in the Venice-Madison area, and Kay Rollins for Nameko.

8) Plan your front page picture two-to-four weeks before publication and run a photo essay once per month.

Breaking news, plus three issues per week make it difficult to determine what photo we'll run on the front page a month from now. However, we have an idea of what events are planned in the community. If we know there's going to be a major event in May, we plan it.

Concerning photo features, we had slacked off a little there, but the staff is renewing its energies in that area.

9) Feature stories and in-depth stories are the heart of the paper. We know that quite well. Every Sunday we have at least one front-page feature, and there are several features written through the course of the week that run in the Wednesday and Thursday newspapers.

Concerning in-depth stories, they are fewer in number, as any articles taking weeks and months research will be. Our last in-depth piece was on the area's homeless. The series won recognition recently in the Press Association of Greater St. Louis' contest.

Overall, based on the standards, we seem to be doing a good job. But we won't break our arms patting ourselves on the back. You demand quality and continual improvement. It's not an easy task, but we're dedicated to meeting your demand with every issue.

Letters Policy

The Press-Record/Journal welcomes letters to the editor. Names, addresses and telephone numbers must accompany all letters.

Letters which are libelous or not in good taste will be rejected. Shorter letters will be given preferences as will typed letters.

International union has local links

By Bill Whitner
Staff Writer

A bright spotlight is shining this week on the United Steelworkers of America, an international union which has many close ties to Granite City.

Ballots are being cast through April 21 by members in Granite City, the Chicago area and the Detroit area on a proposed 1986-88 agreement with National Steel Corporation. The union also is bargaining this year with other large steelmakers.

ONE OF THE FIVE international officers is a Granite Citian, George Becker.

The United Steelworkers were headed for a number of years by the late Lloyd McBride, who rose to the position from the office of director of the local USWA district, District 34.

Buddy W. Davis, the present District 34 director, chaired the 1986 negotiations conducted from March 5 through April 9 with National Steel Corp.

Also participating in the five weeks of talks in Pittsburgh were Granite Citians Jim Kelahan, Dave Dowling, Norman Roy, John Painter and Burl Hand.

BECKER, who now lives in the Pittsburgh area, the union's international headquarters, is the vice president of administration.

He was installed in his present post March 1 after having served since 1977 as an administrative assistant to Lynn Williams.

Williams was installed as international president March 1 following his election to the office on Nov. 26, 1985.

FIRST CANADIAN to head the United Steelworkers, Williams has been a member of the union most of his adult life. He became USWA secretary June 1, 1977.

The union uses the USWA acronym, instead of USA, even though it writes Steelworkers as a single word.

Williams initially became international president on June 7, 1984, following a special election that year, called due to Mr. McBride's death.

USWA secretary is Edgar L. Ball. Treasurer is James McGeehan and the vice president of human affairs is Leon Lynch.

The administrative vice president, Becker, was active in the union in Granite City and regionally before accepting Pittsburgh duties in 1977.

BECKER HAS SERVED as a local union president, staff representative, safety and health technician, and trouble-shooter.

The USWA grew out of mass production organizing efforts initiated in 1935 by United Mine Workers President John L. Lewis and a group of other AFL (American Federation of Labor) leaders.

They formed the Committee for Industrial Organization, later the Congress of Industrial Organizations (CIO).

SWOC (Steel Workers Organization)

ing Committee growth and bargaining progress in Granite City and other locations led to the formation of an autonomous international union at a constitutional convention held in Cleveland.

The union became the United Steelworkers of America on May 22, 1942.

Along with the main office in Pittsburgh, it has principal offices in Toronto, East Chicago (Ind.) and Birmingham, plus 39 district offices (St. Louis and other cities) and the Upholstery Division in Philadelphia.

THERE ARE 4,000 affiliated locals in the U.S., Puerto Rico and Canada.

The 31-member international executive board is composed of the five top officers, a national director of Canada, the upholstery division director and 24 district directors.

USWA general collective bargaining policy is set by a 150-member International Wage Policy Committee, comprised of the 31-member executive board, and 119 elected members actively employed in the industry.

For major segments of the membership, policy decisions related to collective bargaining are determined through separate Industry Conferences.

PROVISIONS of the tentative settlement being voted on this weekend include:

— Reducing the contracting-out of work and excessive overtime, thereby providing more work for Steelworkers members.

— A cooperative partnership agreement, calling for the creation of committees composed of equal numbers of union and management representatives to solve problems quickly and in a cooperative manner. Members are to have input on decisions before they are made by management. The new partnership extends from the shop floor to the executive suite.

— Work force reductions to be achieved only by mutual agreement and by attrition. To expedite permanent reductions, the company would provide inducements

Orsey leader of economic development

GRANITE CITY — Dennis J. Orsey of Granite City has been appointed chairman of the city's Economic Development Council.

Mayor Von Dee Cruse appointed Orsey to the position April 14.

A 1979 graduate of the Southern Illinois University School of Law, Orsey is an assistant Illinois attorney general and serves as the regional director in charge of the eight-county Granite City Regional Office of Attorney General Neil F. Hartigan.

Orsey is a member of the Tri-City, Madison County, Illinois and American Bar Associations. He has also served with the Tri-Cities Area United Way and the Coordinated Youth Services.

As chairman, Orsey said his priorities will include decreasing unemployment, reversing population decline, and upgrading housing.

The Economic Development

Dennis J. Orsey

Committee was formed in September 1985 by Cruse to advise and provide long-range planning to the city's economic development efforts.

Its initial task was to assist Al Orthals, city director of economic development, in formulating the redevelopment plan for downtown Granite City.

Granite Citizens fighting to defend scenic river area

By Bill Winter
Staff writer

The scenic beauty of the Illinois shoreline north of here is in jeopardy, but it is not the fault of U.S. District Judge William L. Beatty of Granite City, presiding at the federal court in Alton.

Barge fleetings have been approved, based on a U.S. Supreme Court decision not to review the case. Although overruled, Beatty's thoughts have been based on the high court's records and could be considered in some future test of the issue.

BOTH ATTORNEY GENERAL Neil M. Hartigan, who represented Illinois, and the River Road Alliance Inc. fought the Army Corps of Engineers, and the River Road Alliance opposed National Marine Service Inc. in court. Among those aiding River Road Alliance was Attorney Burton C. Bernard of the Bernard and Davidson law firm in Granite City.

"Four votes on the nine-member Supreme Court would have been needed in order for that busy panel to hear the case, Bernard told the Press-Record/Journal.

"The five-year battle ended this spring when the nation's top court declined to study arguments that improper standards were used in approving a permit for a 'barge parking lot' between Alton and Grafton.

Although a victor, National Marine Service no longer proposes to choose up to 200 barges at the site. It now says it will be a much lower total. The Corps in 1982 issued a permit for 30 barges.

In Beatty's ruling on April 20, 1984, he noted "there is a dam on the Mississippi River at Alton, Ill., a few miles upstream from the City of St. Louis and from the junction of the Missouri River with the Mississippi River.

"The dam forms a pool, or reservoir, extending for several miles upstream, beyond the junction of the Mississippi River with the Illinois River.

"This pool, sometimes referred to as the Alton Pool or Pool 26, is commonly known to the people of the Greater St. Louis Metropolitan Area as Alton Lake.

"ON THE EASTERN SIDE of the lake, close to the shoreline, are bluffs of extraordinary height. Between the bluffs and the lake is located the Great River Road (which farther south includes Illinois' in the Mitchell, Granite City and Venice area).

"All parties agree with the Corps' statement that these 'bluffs and river areas, at sea and downstream of applicant's worksite provide some of the most impressive and unique vistas of any area along the Mississippi River."

"Located with a metropolitan area with a population of more than 2,500,000 people, Alton Lake has become the most intensively used pool on the Mississippi.

"ON ITS PERIMETER are many pleasure boat marinas, private dock hunting and fishing clubs, picnic grounds, fishing sloughs, archeological sites, public access areas, and wooded river banks, wetlands occupied by wildlife.

"The permitted fleetings area, which extends 1,500 feet along the shore, covering five acres of water surface, is situated adjacent to a part of the Great River Road, connected by Illinois during the late 1960s and early 1970s to increase public access to the natural beauty of the Mississippi River and its bluffs along the Illinois shore.

"The Great River Road, which in its entirety parallels the Mississippi River from its origin in Minnesota to the Gulf of Mexico, is a component of the National Scenic Highway System."

"Within one-and-a-half and four miles, respectively, are the villages of Chautauqua and Elsah.

"BOTH VILLAGES are listed in the National Register of Historic Places.

Bill would restore state role in fleetings of barges

The Transportation Committee of the Illinois General Assembly approved a bill April 15 to restore authority to the Illinois Department of Transportation (IDOT) to regulate barge fleetings along river shorelines.

"It's going to be a fight to get it through the House," said Rep. Jim McPike, D-Alton, sponsor of the bill, after the committee voted 11-6 in favor of the measure.

The bill would reverse legislation passed in 1981 and signed by Gov. James Thompson stripping IDOT of any authority over barge fleetings on Illinois waterways.

McPike told the House committee that IDOT, rather than the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, should regulate barge fleetings along shores.

The Corps ignores citizens who oppose fleetings and docking along the scenic Great River Road at Alton Lake, McPike said. He is also concerned about the loss of major industry, the Alton area is promoting tourism along the river road, "one of the most beautiful roads in Illinois," McPike said.

McPike said there are alternative areas for barge docking, instead of blocking the River Road view.

David E. Pfeifer, dean of Principia College at Elsah, said the state should have the right to control its waterways.

The state planned and built the Great River Road to "protect the beauty of this natural, scenic resource," said Pfeifer, who also represented the Village of Elsah at the hearing.

"The state of Illinois has spent millions of dollars in developing tourism and recreational sites on state waterways, including $4 million spent on Pere Marquette State Park at Grafton," Pfeifer said.

vice (FWS) and Illinois Department of Conservation objected to issuance of the permit, asserting it will adversely affect the largest mussel bed in the upper Mississippi.

The FWS also warned there is an important catfish overwintering area at the fleetings site.

Overwintering areas are regarded as crucial to the maintenance of existing populations of catfish, and serious consequences from the barges are feared.

NEW PIASA Chautauqua, owner of the Village of Chautauqua, expressed "great concern over the adverse impact of the proposed barge fleetings on the scenic, cultural, recreational and wildlife values of the area."

Judge Beatty pulled no punches in his appraisal of the Engineer Corps' pro-barge stand. He found the Corps arbitrary and capricious in its failure to take a required "hard look at the aesthetic impact" and in its attitude toward "the quality of the human environment."

Beatty declared the permit invalid and an "abuse of discretion" by the Corps. He remanded the case to the Corps for its further consideration, ordering "the federal defendants to comply fully with the spirit and the letter of the statutes and regulations cited."

In May 1985, the 7th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals decided that a permit should be granted, and rescinded the injunction against fleetings.

IT WAS THIS ruling that the Supreme Court justices allowed to stand without comment.

River Road Alliance and other groups, including the Coalition for the Environment, said the appellate court inappropriately posed the question of whether the Jim Bensman of Godfrey, representing the 13,000-member Illinois Sierra Club, said the Corps tends to protect the interests of the navigation industry. The river along Grafton is the home of mussel beds and attracts waterfowl and bald eagles, he said.

Twenty-six opponents of McPike's bill were registered at the House hearing. Opponents include barge lines, the Illinois Farm Bureau and the Illinois Coal Association.

The Corps of Engineers is recognized by Congress and the courts to regulate the waterways and barge fleetings permits, said Russell Mehaffey, president of the Illinois River Carriers Association, a group which represents the river industry.

Regulation of waterways by IDOT would pose an additional burden on the taxpayers of Illinois, Mehaffey said.

"The cost would be passed on to the barge industry, which has been in a depression in recent years," he said.

Harold Dodd, president of the Illinois Farmers Union, testified that control of waterways by IDOT would be a duplication of the role of the Corps of Engineers.

"It would cause an increase in freight rates (on barges)," Dodd said. "The farming industry can't stand any increased blows."

Rep. Tom Ryder, R-Jerseyville, a member of the transportation committee, voted in favor of McPike's bill. Ryder said it was also important to find sites for barge fleetings operations.

"We have beauty and we have tourism," Ryder said. "We also need jobs."

Another area member of the committee, Rep. Sam Wolf, D-Granite City, also voted for the bill.

Corps should have prepared a detailed EIS (environmental impact statement).

They contended the key issue was whether the Corps had adequately evaluated whether fleetings would have a significant impact, the step that triggers an EIS.

NATIONAL MARINE Service, successor to the original permit holders, felt its plans met all laws and regulations and were not of enough magnitude to require detailed environmental scrutiny.

Illinois state officials contended the Corps should have looked for other sites and that it used the wrong method to judge whether it was carrying out its duties.

Seventeen other states voiced similar objections, saying the outcome will "seriously inhibit state attempts to protect areas of natural beauty."

Beatty and Appellate Judge Wood agreed with this view but were not upheld.

The issue has been decided, at least for the time being. But there is speculation that, when the new locks and dam are completed south of Alton and north of Granite City, there will be less river shipping congestion and less need to "park" barges.

THE U.S. SENATE on March 26 by a voice vote authorized $220 million to build a second new lock two miles south of the aging Alton locks and dam. Work has been in progress during the 1980s on the replacement dam and one new lock.

The battle over scenic river vistas moved last week to the Illinois House of Representatives, where Rep. Jim McPike of Alton and Rep. Sam Wolf of Granite City were instrumental in advancing a bill that would restore river control to Illinois.

The state gave up its voice several years ago as a way of reducing governmental duplication. But many legislators now feel their state's interests are not being adequately safeguarded by the Engineer Corps.

Trial of '82 case to begin

The trial of Jim Barton, former Madison County supervisor, of assessments, delayed April 14 by the defense, has been reset for Monday, April 21, at 9:30 a.m.

The trial was to begin last Monday, but was delayed because Barton's attorney, J. William Lucco, said he would appeal Associate Judge Edward Ferguson's decision on Monday against dismissing the case.

Ferguson also denied a motion for the appointment of a new special prosecutor.

In an order filed Wednesday, Ferguson said he had assumed when the notice of appeal was filed that the trial could not begin.

However, he said his research has indicated that only a final judgment in the case can be appealed. Ferguson said he interprets this to mean any appeal filed after Barton was acquitted or sentenced.

In the meantime, the case can proceed.

Ferguson will hear bribery, conspiracy and official misconduct charges filed against Barton in 1982.

Barton and five others are also charged in a 1984 case, in which they are alleged to have been involved in a scheme to lower property assessments in return for donations to a legal defense fund set up for Barton.

The 1984 case is before Associate Judge Charles Romani. No trial date for that case is set.

Cannabis case leads to year of probation

William L. Gibson, 22, of 2023 Ohio Ave., pleaded guilty and was sentenced Feb. 26 to two days in the Madison County jail and one year of probation, and was fined $50 court costs, $25 special costs and $50 court costs on a charge of unlawful possession of cannabis.

Madison County Circuit Judge Charles Chapman presided over the sentencing.

Gibson was charged following an investigation by Granite City police.

A charge of unlawful delivery of a controlled substance was dismissed on a motion of the state's attorney.

Probation granted for drug possession

Daniel J. Feiper, 27, of 809 Greenwood St., Madison, was sentenced Feb. 26 to one year of probation and was ordered to pay a $500 fine, $500 special costs and $95 court costs on a charge of unlawful possession of a controlled substance.

Feiper pleaded guilty before Madison County Associate Judge Charles Romani, who presided over the sentencing.

Feiper was charged following an investigation by Granite City police.

Restitution ordered in forgery conviction

Paulette Smith, 23, of 153 Lee Wright Homes, Venice, pleaded guilty and was sentenced Feb. 26 on a charge of forgery.

Madison County Circuit Judge P.J. O'Neill sentenced Smith to one year probation and ordered her to pay $90 in court costs and $380 restitution.

The charge came from an investigation by Madison authorities.

TIRE SLASHING INCIDENTS ON WASHINGTON AVENUE

Five people reported to police that tires on their automobiles — parked in the 2100 and 2200 blocks of Washington Avenue — were slashed between 6 p.m. April 16 and 2:19 a.m. April 17.

Prison term on sex assault

Madison County Circuit Judge P.J. O'Neill sentenced Diel to three years in prison, eight years of probation, and ordered him to pay $275 in court costs.

The charges came from an investigation by Granite City police.

CHARGE ALLEGES ORDER OF PROTECTION IGNORED

Robert C. Thurston, 20, of 1827 Maple Ave., was charged April 16 with resisting arrest and violating an order of protection. He allegedly was found in the home of Carol Stokes, who had obtained an order of protection against Thurston.

When police tried to handcuff Thurston, he allegedly refused to cooperate with officers. He was also served three warrants for failing to appear for hearings on charges of disorderly conduct, battery and criminal damage to property.

BURGLARY AND ATTEMPTED ARSON AT HOME IN MADISON

George Lazareff, 1307 Grand Ave., Madison, reported a burglary and attempted arson at his home at 7:55 a.m. April 14.

An unknown person entered the home through a basement window and ransacked every room. A fire among papers was set in the kitchen and another fire was started in the bedroom area.

Money for courtroom approved

By Bill Bagby

Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Money has been approved for completion of a courtroom on the main floor of City Hall, which will soon be home again to the City Council.

A total of $20,000 was approved for fiscal 1987 by township trustees for the completion of the room. The money will come from the town fund, said township attorney William Schooley.

"I THINK IT'S something we're all going to be proud of," Mayor Don DeGroot said about the courtroom. "The (township) budget is over and it's going to take $20,000 more."

The room was originally designed as a meeting place for the council when the building was constructed in 1929. Cruse said Wednesday that the City Hall over the years also provided space for the city judge and his court.

The room was divided about 18 years ago to house the city comptroller's office and a courtroom for an associate judge.

Cruse estimates the room will be ready for council meetings June 1.

HE REPORTED that installation of an elevator at City Hall has started and should be completed within four to five weeks.

Council meetings will not return to City Hall from the one-level Granite City Township Hall until the elevator is completed, giving handicapped persons access to the building and the meeting room.

Stairsteps make it difficult for the handicapped to enter City Hall at present.

Local man sentenced on charge of theft

Jeffrey A. Jobe, 25, of 3904 Gaslight Walk, Pontoon Beach, pleaded guilty and was sentenced Feb. 6 to two years in prison and was ordered to pay $90 in court costs on a charge of theft of more than $300.

Madison County Circuit Judge Charles Chapman presided over the sentencing.

The charge against Jobe came following an investigation by the Granite City police.

Venice man guilty of weapons charge

Robert G. Watson Jr., 34, of 1218 Robin St., Venice, was sentenced Feb. 21 after pleading guilty on a charge of unlawful use of a weapon.

Madison County Circuit Judge P.J. O'Neill sentenced Watson to 2½ years probation and ordered him to pay a $1,500 fine, $150 special costs and $95 court costs.

Watson was charged following an investigation by Venice authorities.

Livingston man guilty of theft of over $300

Dale Culver, 26, of Livingston pleaded guilty and was sentenced Feb. 28 by Madison County Circuit Judge Charles L. Chapman to 1½ years of intensive supervision and $90 court costs on a charge of theft of more than $300.

The charge came from an investigation by Pontoon Beach police.

ARRESTED AS FUGITIVE

Dana Richardson, 28, St. Louis, was arrested on April 15 by Madison police in front of the Gateway Midstate Truck Plaza on a St. Louis warrant charging him as a fugitive from justice, due to an alleged probation violation. He was transferred to the Madison County jail.

Road block fuels 'Safe Street' plan

GRANITE CITY — An April 11 "road block" held by the Area Council of Parent-Teacher Associations was so successful an April 12 fundraiser was cancelled, said juvenile protection Chairman Emil Klug.

The committee hoped to raise $400 for child abduction prevention, abuse prevention and information letters to parents, Klug said. During the April 11 road block, PTA members raised $480.

The PTA Council plans to hold a free public seminar April 24 at 7:30 p.m. at the Granite City High School auditorium. The public is invited.

Probation is given on obstructing police

Rosemary Szilveszter of 2823 Marshall Ave. was sentenced Feb. 18 to one year of probation and $85 court costs on a charge of obstructing a peace officer.

Earl Carey of Nashville, N.C., told Madison police he got out of his truck at 12:56 a.m. April 15 to walk around and felt a sharp object pressed against his back.

A woman's voice told him to give her his wallet. After he complied, she ran to a waiting car and left the Gateway Midstate Truck Plaza area.

She had shoulder-length hair and was wearing blue jeans and a blue jacket.

His wallet contained several charge cards, a North Carolina driving license and $180 in cash.

Three bills released from the Rules Committee are intended to lay the groundwork for a bipartisan agreement on the insurance crisis, a crisis that threatens the state's businesses, local governments and consumers," Wolf said.

"The vehicle legislation will provide us with a point from which we can begin negotiations on the problems of soaring premiums, cancellations and limited availability of insurance coverage."

Wolf said the House task force on the insurance crisis will be issuing its report in the next few weeks.

"This should aid us in designing a legislative solution agreeable to all parties," he said. "The task force has been studying this problem for several months, and I believe any recommendations will help us to better address the complex questions inherent in the insurance crisis."

"If lawmakers are committed to adopting effective insurance reforms this year," Wolf added, "we must make a deliberate effort to understand the root causes of the problem and develop a proposal that calls for a sound and lasting solution."

"Settling for short-term, quick-fix answers may be politically expedient, but in the long-run could further aggravate the problem," he concluded.

House Bills 3263, 3264 and 3265 now move to the House Committee on Insurance for consideration.

State may up protection

A legislative package to strengthen laws which protect children from abduction, pornography and child abuse has been introduced in the Illinois General Assembly.

While Gov. James R. Thompson was taking steps to tighten child abuse laws, he received a certificate of appreciation for his efforts in Illinois and on a national scale to protect children.

He received the honor from the producers of "Missing III... Have You Seen This Person?," an NBC television program.

Thompson, co-chairman of the National Campaign to Protect Children, praised "Missing" Executive Producer John Cosgrove and Producer Terry Meurer for the program's efforts to locate missing persons across the nation and promote ways to avoid abduction.

He gave them a plaque which recognizes the "significant contribution" the program has made in the effort to protect youngsters.

It is up to us, those who set policy, draft legislation and enforce the law — to protect our children from harm of this kind. Our efforts are greatly helped when responsible programs such as "Missing" bring the message home," said the governor.

The child protection laws of Illinois are the most progressive of any state. But we must consistently and constantly act to further reduce the likelihood of a child being victimized by existing programs, pornography or other abuse.

"This administration package, which has received bipartisan support, will amend existing Illinois law, making inroads to strengthen other law enforcement and criminal justice tools."

A six-bill package introduced in the Senate would provide more safeguards in the videotaping of court testimony by child abuse victims and give agencies greater ability to track suspected child abusers. The bills were drafted under the coordination of Inspector General Jerry Margolis.

The legislation includes:

• Senate Bill 2291. It would permit the use of electronic surveillance on persons suspected of committing crimes against children or the murder of persons, juveniles, juveniles in investigation. The crimes include murder, kidnapping, indecent solicitation of a child, soliciting for a juvenile prostitute, juvenile pimping, exploitation of a child, and child pornography.

• SB 2292, a bill that would extend juvenile provisions already in place for juvenile offenders to the juvenile victims of sex crimes.

It also would require a person convicted of a crime for sexual assault crimes when the victim is 18 years old or younger to register with local law enforcement agencies on release from prison or probation.

• SB 2293, which would take several steps:

— First, it would require commercial film operators to report child pornography when they discover it in film they have processed.

— Second, profits derived from child porno activities could be seized from the offender, a step that goes beyond the current law of forfeiture of vehicles and equipment used in the commission of a child porno offense.

— Third, the legislature in 1985 extended the statute of limitations for child porno by three years to a total of six years. SB 2293 would extend the statute of limitations for that and other child abuse crimes until the victim has reached his or her 21st birthday.

— Fourth, day care center workers and others in similar positions in which they have close contact with children would face longer prison sentences if convicted of using their jobs to sexually abuse a child. Any additional prison terms would be at the discretion of the sentencing judge, who could view this facet as an aggravating factor to the crime.

— Finally, the crime of indecent solicitation of a child would carry stiffer penalties. SB 2293 would make it illegal for a parent with custody to interfere with visitation rights of the non-custodial parent.

• SB 2294, which makes it a crime to attempt to lure a child into a vehicle. The bill also bans child visitation rights between a parent who has custody of a child and a non-custodial parent. It would make it illegal for a parent with custody to interfere with visitation rights of the non-custodial parent.

• SB 2295, which streamlines the notification of local birth certificate registrars and schools when the Department of State Police suspects that a missing child is enrolled in an Illinois school. It also would give the department access to Department of Employment Security records during child abuse, exploitation and kidnapping investigations.

• SB 2296, legislation that would further protect child abuse victims from having to testify in open court by allowing the defendant's attorney to cross-examine the child during videotaped testimony.

• Union

WE ASK YOU to become as fully informed about the proposed settlement as you can before you vote. This will be one of the most important decisions of your work-life. Davis told today's steelworkers last week.

The tentative contract was approved for submission to them by the international executive board and the negotiating committee, which included Davis, Staff Representative Jim Kelahan and four Granite City local presidents, John Painter of Local 68, Earl Hain of Local 30, Dave Dowling of Local 67 and Norman Roy of Local 68.

Also on the panel were Local 1299 President Raymond Bonds and Staff Rep. Milio Rinna of Ecorse, Mich.; and Local 6103 President Robert Pastor, Local 8865 President Dewey Nast, Dave Schaffer, president of a newly-organized unit, and Staff Rep. Dave McNeil, all of Portage.

while my little ones are at home," he said.

Hammond fought to get on the primary ballot.

The Illinois Board of Education attempted to block his candidacy because he had not worked at least two of the last four years in the state of Illinois.

FEDERAL JUDGE James L. Foreman ruled that state-unemployment constitutional, noting that the present state superintendent of schools failed to meet the requirement.

"My candidacy wasn't a waste of time," Hammond said.

Opposing Hammond in the Nov. 4 election was the Democratic nominee, Democrat Harry Briggs Jr., nephew of the current superintendent.

Briggs defeated three opponents in the primary.

"Harry Briggs is the same as the LaRouche candidates who won primary elections. I don't want to say he endorses their political beliefs, or that he's a terrible candidate, but I feel he won on name recognition rather than qualifications."

HAMMOND SAID he would endorse the Republican candidate who replaces him if his qualifications seem in order.

"Even though I should examine the qualifications of the candidates they vote for," he said, "I think the people of this county should wake up and take a look at their political system. The one-party system (Democratic domination) just isn't healthy."

Madison County Republican Chairman Long agrees.

"We will soon bring you the detailed information you need to make an informed decision."

POLEMAN said insurance offers a number of advantages for districts and can help assure availability of coverage, stabilization of future rates, use of professional loss prevention and claims management services to reduce losses, and programs designed specifically for school district needs, he added.

IASB now provides employee benefit programs and workers' compensation coverage for member districts. The Insurers' Marketing Association markets both the types of insurance and workers' compensation programs.

"Their expertise and willingness to work closely with the school district administration team is an important service. The technical aspects of administering both programs are handled by Hinz Consulting Service," the director said.

Seamon concluded, "These pooled programs are your programs and are governed by school district representatives. We believe we have in place — and have proved it by experience — a team of experts that can supply the services you need. We encourage your district to consider participation in these programs."

Educators evaluating Madison High

Twenty-three educators made an on-site evaluation of Madison High School from Wednesday, April 16, through Friday, April 18, Principal Daniel Kostencki announced.

The North Central Evaluation Committee is chaired by Henry Studnicki, superintendent, East Alton-Wood River High School District 14. Studnicki has chaired several NCA evaluations in recent years.

Principal Kostencki said, "The purpose of this external team evaluation is to help the school look at itself objectively."

For the last 12 months, the school has been engaged in a comprehensive self-study, seeking to identify its strengths and determine those areas in which change would seem to be desirable. The NCA team brought an outside professional viewpoint to the evaluation.

Studnicki said, "We are not visiting the school to inspect it. Rather, we have come to give assistance to the staff in its pursuit of quality education for its students."

Dolores Folkerts, chairman of the self-study of Madison High School, pointed out that "the members of the NCA visiting committee are contributing their ser-VICES to the school. This spirit of professional cooperation is a hallmark of education in this country and is a noted feature of the North Central Association. The goal of an NCA evaluation is to stimulate a continuing drive for improvement of the school."

The members of the evaluation team: Dr. Anita Pankake, professor, Southern Illinois University; Renee Tank, teacher, Collinsville High School; Mary Sue Harper, vocational coordinator, Venice High School; Larry Kristoff, instructor and coach, SIUE; Eugene Smallman, teacher, Granite City High School; Lowell Turner, psychologist, Special Education Services Region III; Cheryl Zimmerman, teacher, Pittsfield High School; Nancy Krauss, librarian, Duplo High School; David Wiseman, counselor, East Alton-Wood River High School.

William Freeman, administrative assistant, Madison County Educational Service Region; Kenneth Perkins, assistant principal, Waterloo High School; Brent Grodeon, assistant principal, Highland High School; David VanWinkle, assistant superintendent, Alton Community Unit District 1; and Gerald Webb, director of personnel, Edwardsville Community Unit District 7.

After the committee's visit, the staff considers the recommendations made by the committee and the recommendations that resulted from the school's self-study. The staff will then decide upon the areas of the program that need to be strengthened, and will devise a schedule of steps towards improving those areas.

Kostencki called such an evaluation "a difficult but productive task. It's the kind of thing we should do with our own personal life-plans every now and then."

The North Central Association, the nation's largest regional accrediting agency, is a voluntary association of over 5,000 schools, colleges and universities in a 19-state region. The association works with individual schools to improve educational quality through a continuous process of evaluation and accreditation.

Q. I have an idea for a new business which I really believe has merit. A friend agrees it is a good idea but cautions that I need to talk with others before embarking on my own entrepreneurial venture. Since this business has never been done before, who would be of value?

A. Professional people like attorneys, accountants and your banker are a good place to start. Entrepreneurs are the spark it takes to light the fire of free enterprise. It takes a special kind of dedication and talent to conceive a business idea, provide the money necessary and to keep with it, often through beginning hard times. The two most often cited factors in succeeding with a business of your own are ability and commitment. The number one reason for failure is money, or the lack of it. By the time a new enterprise has reached the point where lack of money is a critical problem, it is often too late for a banker to help. Usually the time your banker can be of most assistance is in the planning stage of the new business. The more aware of the possible pitfalls of a business venture, the more likely you will be to avoid them or be prepared to conquer the problem. Have a talk with your banker, keep him informed and let him help guide you through the mazes of operating a new business.

Warrior hurlers slip by Danville in 8th inning

By Gregg Ochoa
Executive Sports Editor

GRANITE CITY — The baseball Warriors forced the issue Friday night, and it paid off.

They stole home to tie the game and plated the winning run on a wild throw. A pitch in the dirt allowed Steve Davis to score from third base in the eighth inning as Granite City pulled off a 5-4 win in the first game of its round robin tournament.

With the victory, the Warriors also finally hit the .500 mark after hovering around it for some time. Granite City is now 9-9.

"It was an important win not only because it got us to .500, but they are a good baseball team," said Warrior Coach Bob Stegemeier. "It's always great to win against a good club."

Stegemeier made a gutsy call in the seventh inning with his club down by a run. He gave Todd Adamitis the green light to steal home.

The move caught the Vikings flat-footed. Adamitis slid in and knocked the ball out of catcher Eric Collier's mitt and scored the tying run.

"I was concerned because it wasn't a set play," Stegemeier said. "It was just a case where the pitcher wasn't keeping him close. I just told Todd if he got a good lead to steal."

Adamitis, a junior, led off the inning with a walk. He stole second and went to third on an infield out. There were two out and Jim Chomko was the hitter when Adamitis took off for the plate.

I stole home one other time, but that was in little league. It was no big deal. ... I wanted to make sure Jimmy was taking. I didn't want to end up with Easton across my face," Adamitis said, referring to the brand of aluminum bats the Warriors use.

In the eighth inning, Davis reached on a bunt and Jamie Hogan singled, putting runners on first and second.

Prior Mark Bowen, who had relieved in the top of the eighth, made a rare plate appearance and bunted back to the mound. Chris Kittel booted it for an error which loaded the bases.

With Adamitis at the plate, Kittel threw the ball in the dirt. It bounced to the screen and allowed Davis to score.

Bowen improved his record to 2-2. He also helped himself in the field. After giving up a one-out double to Andy Small, Bowen picked him off in a rundown after Kittel bounced sharply to the mound.

The Vikings took a 1-0 lead with an unearned run in the first. Sean Murray reached on an error and scored on a wild pickoff attempt.

Granite City tied the game in the second. Roe singled and the ball got by the left fielder for a two-base error. Jamie Hogan then scored pinch-runner Rich Wilson with a base hit.

RBI singles by Small and Kittel gave Danville a 4-1 lead but Granite City made a comeback.

Pinch-hitter Billy Moore drew a walk to start the fifth and went to third on a bloop double by Tim Hogan. Moore scored on a hit by Fred Becker. Hogan later came home on a wild pitch, cutting the Danville lead to 4-3.

After the round robin tourney, Granite City will play at Belleville East Monday in a Southwestern Conference game. Action starts at 4 p.m.

TOO MUCH: This was a scene the Granite City girls softball team saw too much of Thursday. Cahokia's Sharon Coleman struck out twelve Warriors and allowed only a hit to Karen Sykes in a 14-0 Comanche victory.

Girls win on Ryan's goal, 1-0

By Dave Whaley
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Dee-fense.

Offense sells tickets, but defense wins games. That's what they say. The Granite City girls soccer team is a perfect example of that saying.

After six games, the Warriors have allowed only one goal (in a 1-0 defeat at Incarnate Word last week) and shut down the Hazelwood East Spartans here Friday for a 1-0 victory.

Colleen Ryan scored on a tip-in from 15 feet out off a free kick by Linda Kuberski at the 65:00 mark for the game's only goal.

The Warriors are now 4-1-1 on the year. But with a defensive record such as the one Granite City has, they could easily be 6-0. On Wednesday, the Warriors played a scoreless tie against McCluer North, including two 10-minute overtime periods that proved fruitless.

"We've been unlucky on a few chances this year," said Warrior Coach Mike Velloff after Friday's game. "We've had some shots go off the post and over the top of the net. And we missed some chances tonight."

One of the good chances came when Nancy Modica slipped as she was about to shoot from point-blank range late in the first half. One minute later, Spartans goalie Angie Viviano misplayed a ball and Sheila Noel had an empty net.

Noel was at a sharp angle and put the ball wide, however.

The Spartans had their best chances early in the game as Lori Dennis was robbed on a tip attempt six minutes into the game by Mary DeRuntz.

DeRuntz shared the shutout with Diane Takmajian when she had to leave at halftime with an injured knee. Takmajian lived the easy life in the second half as the Warriors used their depth to tire Hazelwood East and kept the ball in their end of the field virtually the entire time.

With the Warriors substituting freely, they picked up the pressure in the second half as Noel, Ryan and Marla Toeniskoetter all had good opportunities before Ryan cashed in.

"We're trying to find the right combinations up front," Velloff said. "We need to score more."

The Warriors had a game at Collinsville scheduled for Saturday, but the Kahoks lost the use of their field. That game has been postponed until April 28. They play Thursday at Metro-East Lutheran (Edwardsville) at 4 p.m.

Madison coaches who fought for equal pay will receive awards

Carol Cole and Luvenia Long, teachers and coaches at Madison High School, will be awarded honors Monday, April 21, during the annual Alice Paul Awards ceremony at SIUE.

Also honored will be Linna Burgess, a counselor in the Illinois Department of Rehabilitation Services.

Sponsored by the SIUE Metro East National Organization for Women (NOW), the event is scheduled in the University Club Restaurant at 7:30 p.m. Lucille Laurenti, Illinois state president of NOW, will be the featured speaker.

The Alice Paul Awards, named for the author of the Equal Rights Amendment, are presented to community women who "show courage, dedication and empathy towards their sisters and work toward the improvement of the status of women."

Both Long and Cole said they were surprised when they were told of the selection.

"I'm honored they think we're courageous enough to take our plight (seeking equal pay for female coaches) to court, but we didn't think of it that way. Something was happening here and we think people are basically fair; they were not aware of what was going on," Long said.

Cole said, "I think it's nice they feel we did something that we felt we had to do. If they think that is super, then I am very honored and happy with the honor. I am looking forward to attending the ceremony."

Cole is a graduate of SIUE at Carbondale and her interest in sports has led her to become the head coach in girls' basketball, volleyball and softball.

According to the awards selection committee, Cole has overcome numerous difficulties to establish sports teams for girls and her determination has been rewarded by her teams winning five regional basketball championships.

Long also is a graduate of SIUE and holds a master's degree from SIUE. She established the first athletic program for girls at Madison High School and became the head coach of the girls' track team.

Burgess holds a master's degree in social work from the University of Illinois and she is active in the National Association of Social Workers and the Illinois Rehabilitation Association. She has been a NOW member since 1971 and is a strong supporter of feminist issues.

The awards committee said both Cole and Long have fought for and won in federal court the right to have girls' sports teams and to assure equal pay for those coaching boys' and girls' sports.

Tickets for the awards ceremony are $1.50 for SIUE students and $3 for the general public. For further information, the Union Station Ticket Office at SIUE may be called at 1-692-2320.

Trojans win; lose to Devils

MADISON — The Madison Trojans' first win of the season had been a long time coming, and Coach Marcus Spraggins welcomed it with open arms Wednesday.

"It sure is nice to win one," he said. "I guess it would be a good thing to have an evenly-matched ballgame. We made good contact at the plate and got good relief pitching, and that's what we have to do to win ballgames."

Madison, 1-5 after Wednesday's win, pounded Worden pitcher Terry Wilson for 13 hits and drew 13 walks en route to a 20-10 victory over Worden. Chandler Terrell picked up win as the senior hurler allowed only four hits and two runs after relieving starter Lester Buckles in the third inning.

After Madison had opened up what was, at the time, a close game with eight runs in the second to take a 10-3 lead, Worden stormed back with seven runs in the third to tie the score. But the Trojans put the game out of reach when they rallied for six runs in the bottom of the inning and three more in the fourth. The game was called due to the ten-run rule when Anthony Valentine singled home John Browley in the bottom of the fifth.

The defensive highlight of the game came when Worden's John Dowley popped up to Madison second baseman Quincy Williams with runners on first and second. After catching the ball, Williams alertly threw to shortstop Darnell Marshall, who tagged second and threw to first for the Trojans' first triple play of the season.

The Trojans fell to 1-6 on Thursday when they fell to Venice, 6-2, in Venice. The Red Devils, now 2-3, were led by pitcher Orlando Love, who contributed with both his arm and his bat.

Love, a junior right-hander, was 2 for 4 at the plate with a triple, home run and three RBIs. He also pitched a complete game, allowing only five hits. He also struck out five while walking four.

Patrick Gasper was the losing hurler for the Trojans. Dennis Vauters provided most of the offense for Madison, which had five hits. Vauters had two of them, including a double and an RBI.

The Trojans took a 1-0 lead in the second inning, but Venice came back with two in the third and three more in the fourth.

DePew homers in win

By Al Barnes

Staff writer

EDWARDSVILLE — With the help of Daren DePew's three-run homer, the Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville Cougars turned on its big brother, SIUCarbonade, and destroyed the Salukis 11-7 Wednesday.

And what a feeling it is. Over the years, the Salukis have trampled and generally mistreated the Cougars, and even after the loss this week still own a 16-5 edge over SIUE.

Veteran Coach Richard "Itchy" Jones' team came to Edwardsville sporting a 27-12 record, mostly against NCAA Division I schools.

Coach Gary Collins started a young man who just possibly could turn out to be one of the best pitchers ever at SIUE, Chuck Floarke, a sturdy and cool-as-ice junior from Valmeyer.

Floarke responded with a near-midnight masterpiece in turning back the potent bats of SIUC. He allowed them only three hits and one run, that one a gift.

With terrific control, young Floarke had the Salukis eating out of his hand. He fanned three and walked one and had batter after batter clubbing the ball into the ground.

The only run he gave up, in the fourth, came after a fly ball by Gerry Pitchford of SIUC hit a fly ball that Rich Fletcher, the Cougars' usually sure-fielding right fielder, lost in the sun. Robert Jones, a sure first round draft choice in this year's major league draft, singled Pitchford last. Jones is the all-time leading RBI man at SIUC with 168 in his career.

Dave Vieth of Edwardsville, who shares coaching duties with DePew and also serves as the Cougars' designated hitter, matched the Granite City native by driving in three runs also.

Steve Blumner had a 4 for 5 day, while Rick Vartania and Tony Duenas both registered two RBIs with two hits each.

The Cougars are now 21-9. They defeated Washington U. 9-2 on Wednesday behind the pitching of Mark Bozich. DePew once again got things started by driving in two runs with a triple in the second inning against the Bears.

After a game at home Friday against St. Louis U. and a home doubleheader Saturday against St. Francis (Ill.), the Cougars are scheduled to play McKendree College in a doubleheader in Lebanon today.
